

QAD West Coast User Group

The QAD West Coast User Group

The users in the group provide support to one another in the implementation and utilization of QAD Enterprise Applications. The User Group meetings are of an educational nature, as well as a means of communication with QAD Inc. on common issues of interest. We work in association with the America's User Group as a "Regional" User Group.

Group Goals

The goal of the User Group is to provide a network of knowledgeable individuals and companies familiar with the QAD Enterprise Application. The differing business environments can provide a resource for learning and resolving problems of the member companies.

The User Group also works to provide members a meeting place where third party vendors and equipment vendors can show and discuss their products in relation to QAD Enterprise Application programs.

Visit our website at www.qadcaug.com for meeting information.

Group Benefits

The User Group provides a forum for members to share and exchange experiences with QAD and QAD partners' systems, including:

- Access to QAD technical developers
- Access to technical documentation and support
- Insight into new software
- Networking with other end users
- Opportunities and solutions through the experiences of other users.

Non-profit Organization

All funds collected by the Group are used to expand and improve the operation and services provided by the group.
